

Messukeskus Helsinki, Expo and Convention Center and Wanha Satama grant you the right to use the media bank on condition that you accept all the terms outlined here. If you do not accept these terms, you are not entitled to use the media bank. You do not need to register to use the media bank, but by using the media bank, you agree to abide by these terms. Individual files may also have special conditions of use, which are outlined in the file information.

Photos and corporate symbols in this media bank can be used freely in accordance with legislation and good journalistic practise and keeping in mind the public nature of the events at Messukeskus and Wanha Satama. The user has the right to publish the images once. The material may not be used for commercial purposes without prior permission from Messukeskus.

Fairs are public events, and activities in public places can usually be recorded visually without having to ask for a permission from the individuals filmed/captured in the material (source: Guidelines for Journalists, Union of Journalists in Finland). Messukeskus and Wanha Satama are not liable for any demands by any third parties regarding the use of the images. The user will be liable for his use of the media bank material.

Manipulation of the images is prohibited, but images can be used as part of a larger picture spread. Any manipulation of the logos provided in the media bank is prohibited.

Messukeskus retains all rights to the material in the media bank, and Messukeskus / Wanha Satama, and/or the trade fair or conference depicted must be credited in the context where the image(s) are used, in the following form: Messukeskus / name of event.

Messukeskus has the right to change the media bank, its terms and content, availability and system requirements at any time. Messukeskus aims to ensure that the media bank functions properly at all times but cannot guarantee that it will function without interruption or without error or that the media bank and its server will be free from computer viruses or software errors or other faults. Messukeskus will not be responsible for any problems arising from data transfer.

Messukeskus Helsinki, Expo and Convention Center has produced these terms of use. If you have any comments or questions about the media bank, please contact our communications department by e-mail communications@messukeskus.com or by phone +358 40 450 3250.
